Overcrowding sends Bay kids to Waveland School

BY D.C. HARVILL
Because more students have registered in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District than were expected, after two days of class, some students at North Bay Elementary will have to switch to Waveland Elementary.

Kindergarten through second grade students living west of Washington Street and third graders living west of Kellar Street to the city limits are now required to attend Waveland Elementary.

"This move was absolutely necessary due to the extreme over crowding of some classes at North Bay. Several classes had as many as 38 students," Superintendent Robert Magee said.

For accreditation purposes the State Board of Education mandates that each class have no more than 27 students.

An announcement was sent home with about 86 children Friday afternoon informing their parents that they would be attending Waveland Elementary, Magee said.

"We had to wait one day after the registration process was over to see how many children we would have," he said.

While the state mandates a 27 student per class limit, the district has set a goal of bringing the ratio down to 20 students per teacher, beginning this year with the first grade.

With the new distribution the number of first graders per teacher will be approximately 21 to 22, Magee said.

The number definitely will be under 27 for all classes," according to Magee.

The dividing lines were based on the distribution of students within the district, according to School Board President Charles Benvenuti.

"What we have done is evened out the size of the two schools and tried to send each child to the school closest to him," Benvenuti said.

According to Benvenuti, the school board decision to divide the students between the two schools was made by the board two years ago as part of a long-range plan.

"We didn't realize how far into (Bay St. Louis) we would have to draw the line," Magee said.

Transportation will be provided to all eligible students as usual, according to Magee.

Gene Taylor among number seeking 5th District seat

BY D.C. HARVILL
Speculation has turned to reality with the announcement of several people that they intend to seek the Fifth Congressional District office left vacant by the death of Representative Larkin Smith.

State Senator Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis announced his candidacy for the vacant office Friday, according to an article in Saturday's Jackson Clarion-Ledger.

Republican State Senator Bob Usey of Gulfport also announced Friday.

A 10-year veteran of the Mississippi Senate representing Harrison County, Usey said he had considered running for the congressional post in 1988 but did not due to family considerations and business obligations.

"The short period until October 3 is attractive. It's ridiculous to run 6 to 8 months for an office," Usey is quoted as saying.

Saying she feels her conservative policies are consistent with the wants of the people of south Mississippi, Smith's widow, Sheila, Friday, joined the ranks of candidates eager to claim her late husband's office.

Smith said she will formally announce her candidacy after a Sept. 6 memorial service in Washington for her late husband.

Smith met with Republican leaders in Washington Thursday. Moore reportedly consulted top Democratic leaders in Washington Wednesday.

Smith died August 14 when the small plane in which he was traveling to Gulfport from Hattiesburg crashed in a forested area in Perry County.

In the November 1988 general election for the congressional seat, Taylor ran as a Democrat against Smith, garnering 46 percent of the vote.

Taylor described his campaign as "the best kept secret in Mississippi," the article said.

"We've been in the process of putting it (the campaign) together. There will be a lot of meetings over the weekend," he is quoted as saying.

Taylor reportedly has been courted by the Republican party since Smith's death. He is expected to announce his party affiliation Tuesday.

For the special election scheduled for October 3, only the names of the candidates will appear on the ballot, not their party affiliations. If necessary,

Beach committee head fears maintenance costs will delay shore repairs

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has as yet taken no action regarding complaints from the Hancock County Sand Beach Advisory Committee about how seawall tax funds are being spent.

John Scafide Jr., who as committee chairman represented the committee at Thursday's board of supervisors meeting, told the board that enough money for beach renourishment will not be available unless fewer seawall tax dollars are spent on maintenance for the present beach.

He presented a letter from the committee, which has existed in some form since 1985 with most of the current members also participating in the original technical advisory council.

The result was a sand beach master plan which included shore protection measures as its major goal.

During the planning period, the cost of restoring the existing sand berm and seawall were estimated at between $2.5 million and $3.5 million, according to Scafide's letter.

The letter stated, "Even at $3.5 million, the project was still viewed as financially feasible even if only two-thirds ($400,000) of the annual seawall and road protection tax collections were applied for debt service."

"This would still leave approximately one-third ($200,000) for ongoing maintenance."

"It was mentioned by the supervisors who attended our last advisory committee meeting that only a $1.5 million bond issue (over seven years) would be possible."

"The supervisors then asked the committee to investigate ways of reducing the size of the renourishment project to accommodate a smaller bond issue."

"We, the members of the advisory committee, feel that a smaller project is not practical and respectfully recommend that a $3.5 million project be reconsidered based on the preliminary cost estimates."

"This could be accomplished if up to two-thirds ($400,000) of the annual seawall and road protection tax collections were pledged for debt service over a longer 15- to 20-year period and even at an interest rate as high as nine percent."

The letter goes on to state that the committee has worked toward an economical project, but "the shoreline area is so

Muscular Dystrophy telethon scheduled Labor Day weekend

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
The Waveland Civic Association will sponsor the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon over Labor Day weekend.

The Association will also sponsor the annual fireworks display on Sunday, Sept. 3 at 8:30 p.m.

The telethon will be from Sunday, Sept. 3, 6 p.m. through Labor Day, 6 p.m.

Jay Lagasse, Civic Association president, reports a goal of $20,000 from Hancock and West Harrison County has been set.

Lagasse said, "This will be the 13th year for the telethon to be sponsored by Waveland Civic Association."

Lagasse estimates over $100,000 has been raised locally for muscular dystrophy since his late father started the campaign.

Louie Smolensky will again serve as chairman and headquarters this year will be at Charles Henderson Ford, U.S.

Highway 90 on the Bay-Waveland line.

Lagasse said, "This will be the first time we will be able to accept major credit card donations."

The 'Fish Bowl' will be set up at Charlie's and there will also be containers placed throughout the business community.

There will also be some 'can shaking' in Diamondhead as well as other parts of the county.

The Waveland Fire Department will once again be in charge of the fireworks display.

The Muscular Dystrophy Telethon telephone number will be 467-9005 during the 24-hour period.

Persons interested in helping can call Lagasse at 467-7400 or Smolensky at 467-9005.

Lagasse said there is always a need for volunteers to call on the telephone during the telethon, as some folks do it for an hour or two. There are several slots still open.

Shoreline Park trailer fires suspected to have been set

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Fire Marshal's Office is investigating two trailer fires which occurred Wednesday in Shoreline Park.

In the first of the two cases, which are apparently unrelated, a vacant trailer on Kiln-Waveland Cut-off Road was destroyed, Fire Marshal Jay Marsh stated.

Jean Brown, the owner of the trailer, told authorities that the mobile home had been vacant for about three months and was being used as a weekend retreat. It had been broken into twice between the time Brown moved out and the fire.

Marsh said the cause of the blaze has not been determined because "some of the evidence is still out, but it appears to have been set."

The blaze started in the kitchen. Estimated damage to the trailer and its contents totalled about $10,500.

The fire was reported at about 1 p.m. Wednesday and departments responding included the East Hancock, BaySide Park and Clermont Harbor volunteers and the Waveland Fire Department.

The second fire, at a vacant trailer on the corner of First Avenue and Eighth Street in Shoreline Park, was reported at about 9:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Marsh said the fire started under the trailer rather than inside. Further investigation Friday indicated that someone may have walked under the raised mobile home and set fire to the heavy paper protecting the insulation under it.

Gulfport man drowning victim

BY D.C. HARVILL
A Gulfport man drowned in a swimming pool in Hancock County Saturday afternoon.

John K. Pillery, 39, was transported by Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center where he was pronounced dead by Hancock County Medical Examiner Harold Stiglet at 3:55 p.m.

Pillery was swimming in a pool at the Hebert residence on CC Road in central Hancock County when the drowning occurred.

The death has been ruled accidental drowning, but an investigation is underway to establish what led to the drowning, Stiglet said.

The fire marshal said the trailer was saved with no damage inside due to a quick response from about 20 firefighters attending a training school at Waveland Fire Department.

Governor's education specialist to address 'Morning Edition'

Pickett Wilson, education specialist, Office of the Governor, will speak to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at Scafield's Wheel Inn in Bay St. Louis Thursday, Aug. 31 at 7:30 a.m.

Ms. Wilson will talk about education in Mississippi and plans to develop a package of education improvements.

State officials currently are traveling across the state to hear what citizens have to say about education. Late this year, Gov. Ray Mabus plans to recommend a package of education improvements for consideration by the Legislature.

The class of 2001 is entering the first grade. By the time this class is graduated, vast changes will have occurred in Mississippi, the nation and the world.

Chamber members and guests are urged to attend this informative meeting. Education is the key to the future.

The fire was reported at about the same time the class, which included firefighters from a number of Hancock County departments, DeLisle and Long Beach, was being completed.

Trailers are damaged more quickly by fire than many other types of structures, and Marsh stated that saving a trailer is considered unusual.

Dumpster woes result in more cost to county

BY DENA BISNETTE

A dumpster system being used while the county has no landfill is costing the Hancock County Maintenance Department more than the $8,000-per-month contract with a hauling firm.

According to Maintenance Superintendent Sam Cuevas, the dumpster system is costing more because people are ignoring the signs which state that drop-off points are for "household garbage only."

Cuevas has plans to actively prosecute violators now, with the assistance of the general public.

The county is losing the equivalent of 12 working days each month that one of the four seven-man crews in the maintenance department could be using to do road, bridge, drainage and other types of work, he said Tuesday.

Prior to the closing of the Catahoula Landfill at the end of 1988, the board of supervisors decided that a dumpster system would be the most feasible alternative to having no place for county residents to bring household garbage.

A new landfill is planned for construction at Standard, but is currently in the permitting process.

Trash and debris, meaning leaves, branches, furniture, appliances, building materials and other items not considered household garbage, may be taken to a separate trash site off Highway 603 at Standard and a second facility at on Highway 604 in Pearlinton.

The two facilities are open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. seven days each week.

An additional site at Necaise Crossing has been closed, Cuevas said.

The dumping of trash at the household garbage dumpsters has become a major problem—and a major expense—for Cuevas' department.

"We need the help and cooperation of the citizens of Hancock County to solve a problem that is getting worse every week," he said.

The dumpsters are emptied on Saturdays, Mondays and Thursdays by the contractor, Browning-Ferris Industries, which takes the household garbage to a private landfill for disposal.

When the trash fills containers designated for household garbage, people with garbage simply dump what they have brought on the ground around the dumpster, Cuevas said.

"When someone drops off an old stove or sofa, their problem ends and ours begin," he explained.

"We have four crews to do all road, bridge and drainage work."

badly deteriorated that any project less than the minimum would only sacrifice hurricane protection and public safety."

The letter quotes an engineers' estimate on the cost of the dredge alone is about $400,000 with drainage costs estimated at $325,000.

If the project were reduced to $1.5 million, only $775,000 would be left for beach renourishment and seawall repairs, prohibiting even the construction of a 150-foot beach, which the committee considers the minimum width feasible.

Scaife again asked the board to consider spending less on maintenance when he spoke at Thursday's meeting.

He commented that the county presently has only one sand-sweeper, which has cost $8,000 to repair since the present county maintenance superintendent, Sam Cuevas, took office.

A new sweeper will cost about $40,000, and Board President Ronald Cuevas said the county must buy new equipment to continue to maintain the existing beach.

"You presently have six employees maintaining a beach that was put in 25 years ago and has never been renourished or even maintained until a couple of years ago," Scaife said.

He asked that his letter be placed in the record of the meeting.

At present, each of these crews spends at least eight hours per week cleaning up the dumpster sites and hauling the trash to the trash dumps," he stated in a press release last week.

"We try hard to provide the services the county residents require, but we lose too many hours doing work that is not necessary."

"If people would cooperate by taking the trash items to the trash site and putting household garbage in the dumpsters, we would all save money and our crews would be able to provide better service to the public."

On Tuesday, he said the problem seems to be getting worse.

"We carted off 12 truckloads from the site at Washington and Chapman on Monday alone," Cuevas said. "We had to go back on Tuesday because we couldn't get it all. That's a day and a half of crew time and 18 loads of trash."

The problem also ties up a backhoe, an operator and "all the trucks you can send," he added.

"You go there one hour and two hours later it's full," he said of the worst sites, which include those at Washington and Chapman, Heron Bay, Necaise Crossing, Old Kiln-Picayune Road and Leetown.

The remaining sites include Harbor Drive, Highway 604 off Highway 90 at Pearlinton, Jordan River Shores at Pontiac Street near the sewer plant, Fenton Fire Department on Firetower Road, Bienville Road off Highway 43, Standard at the new landfill site on CC Road; behind the ballpark at Highways 603 and 53, Texas Flat Road off Highway 603 at McLeod Park, the fairgrounds building on Longfellow Drive, the south county barn on Lower Bay Road and near Seals Grocery on Highway 43.

Cuevas hopes the end of the summer brings some relief by at least reducing the amount of roofing shingles, sheet rock, insulation and lumber in the dumpsters when construction becomes less prevalent as colder weather and shorter days come.

However, he has decided that the only way to get immediate relief is through public cooperation, because, as he states it, "the cost of hiring full-time people to man these sites on a 24-hour basis would be astronomical."

Cuevas asks that anyone who sees someone putting anything other than household garbage in a dumpster write down the tag number of the vehicle being used in the violation, then call his office at 255-3367 to report the number.

The maximum fine which can be levied for improper use of a dumpster is $140, Cuevas stated.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition will be held on Thursday.

The event gets underway at 7:30 a.m. at Scafidi's Wheel Inn, U.S. 90, Bay St. Louis.

Guest speaker will be Pitket Wilson, education specialist, Office of the Governor.

Education is a subject which has the attention of many of us and this will be a very good time for interested parties to come and hear what our state is doing about the matter.

On the other hand Ms. Wilson will be wanting to know what we in Hancock County have to say about education.

Education is the key to the future of any community and it is important for all residents to be concerned.

I am hoping there will be an overflow of concerned chamber members and guests at the Morning Edition on Thursday.

Governor Ray Mabus has set Oct. 3 as the election date to fill the vacant congressional seat of our late Representative Larkin Smith.

It seems candidates are coming out of the 'woodwork', as the old saying goes.

It will not surprise me if no less than 10 to 15 candidates announce for the prestigious position.

Since this will not be a primary election, all parties will be grouped together and it sure looks like there will be a runoff to settle the position.

Since the election is such a short time away, there will be a lot of announcements within a few days.

Parents and students should be aware of the Compulsory School Attendance Law which now includes 16-year-olds.

All children who have attained the age of six years of age before Sept. 1 and who have not attained the age of 17 years of age on or before the same date must be enrolled in an accredited education program.

Hancock County now has two Attendance Officers to enforce the required attendance of all students.

Frank McNeil has been the Attendance Officer for several years and has now been joined by Yvonne Landry.

Youth Court Judge Michael Haas reports that we have a serious drug problem in the county and a lack of education is a major contributing factor.

The number of youth appearing in Judge Haas' court is on an increase and it is reported that a large number are unable to read.

Education of our youth is the responsibility of all of us and especially that of parents.

We urge all parents to make sure their children are educated.

The Hancock County American Red Cross office will be conducting CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) classes on Sept. 11 and 12.

Interested persons may call Jeannie Garcia, local Red Cross coordinator at 467-7609 for further information.

The Red Cross office is now located in the Waveland Community Center on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Rep. Smith's staff continues to serve 5th Cong. District

Representative Smith's staff continues to serve the people of the 5th Congressional District under the leadership of the new Representatives, Donald K. Anderson.

Representative Smith died in a plane crash on Aug. 13.

Several members of Smith's staff remain intact to receive constituent casework, to help in handling business with the executive branch of the government, and to provide information on pending legislation.

Anderson said that the Washington office and the offices in Mississippi are presently open on a daily basis to handle congressional business. Under House rules, the clerk manages the offices when a member dies or resigns. Anderson said that 11 such vacancies occurred in the 100th Congress; there are currently five vacancies in the 101st Congress.

Anderson said that he has appointed Cy Faneca, who was Rep. Smith's chief of staff, as administrator to manage the Smith offices.

The Washington office is located in 516 Cannon House Office Building, telephone 202/225-5772. Mail may be addressed to the 5th District Mississippi Congressional Office, House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515-2405.

The offices in Mississippi are located in Gulfport at 1 Government Plaza, Suite 224, 601/864-7670; and in Hattiesburg in the Federal Building, 701 Main Street, Room 215, 601/582-3246.

European trip to enhance Mississippi economic image

In September, I will join a team of some of Mississippi's best business and community leaders in search of jobs and trade for Mississippi in Europe.

In the competition for jobs and business, Europe has been, and remains, the world's most powerful economic force. This trip will help Mississippi strengthen its presence in Europe so that our state can earn its fair share in the world marketplace.

This trip is particularly important for another reason. In 1992, 12 European nations will join forces in one, unified European Community. This trading block is certain to become a dominant force in the world economy in the next century.

It is absolutely vital that Mississippi establish the ties with government and business in Europe before 1992. We must position ourselves to take advantage of this new economic order.

The focus of this trip will be on West Germany and France. In order to cover the most ground possible, we will at times divide up into teams to talk to business prospects about why they should buy Mississippi products or invest in Mississippi.

As on past trips, our group will include a mix of elected officials, Mississippi business people and economic development officials from the state and local levels.

We also will open a new Mississippi trade office in Frankfurt, West Germany. This city is a key center of business and government in one of the most industrialized nations in Europe. This office will give us an important advantage now, in 1992 and beyond.

The potential for trade and investment from Europe is enormous, and it will take an ongoing commitment from Mississippi to make sure our state gets the trade and investment we all want. That means the state Department of Economic and Community Development will continue to develop more and better ties with Europe.

Also, the tri-state agreement between Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas can play an important role in future business with Europe.

That agreement, signed in Continued on Page 5A

Rural Health Care

Rural Americans account for almost a quarter of the U.S. population, a third of the nation's elderly, and more than half of the poor. However, rural health care in this country remains at a crisis point. In Mississippi, we know this too well.

I believe the federal government does have a role to play in the development of rural America and I've supported several initiatives to help in this area, but my attention these days is focused primarily on Rural Health Care.

The problems we face in health care are magnified in rural areas where poverty is widespread. That is why I believe action should be taken at the federal level to rectify this deplorable situation.

Imagine living in a county without a hospital; having to travel more than 80 miles for medical assistance. Not a comforting thought, but for some in this country, a reality.

One of the problems we face in Mississippi is that young doctors, who often collect a majority of their salary from Medicare reimbursements, receive only one half to one-third of the fees paid in other areas. While a physician in Boston, Mass. may be paid one sum to perform an appendectomy, a doctor in Vicksburg, Miss. might receive only $3,000 to do the same job. But that inequity hurts more than just the doctor.

If the current system rewards doctors who practice in urban areas, which it does, and penalizes those who choose to practice in rural areas, fewer and fewer physicians will make the choice to work and live in smaller states like Mississippi. Fewer doctors translates into reduced availability to medical services. And doctors aren't the only ones leaving for bigger bucks. Nurses, in demand across the country, are finding better pay in bigger cities.

Technology is also a problem. Larger hospitals can afford better equipment. Smaller hospitals located in rural areas cannot.

So how do we remedy this situation? First, we must eliminate the urban-rural differential, to reflect a more equal rate of reimbursement for both geographic areas. Secondly, we must search for ways to attract and retain greater numbers of primary care health personnel in rural areas. The National Health Service Corps, which offers young physicians an opportunity to work in rural areas by guaranteeing them a living wage, is part of the solution. But it will take more. Creative ideas and creative answers.

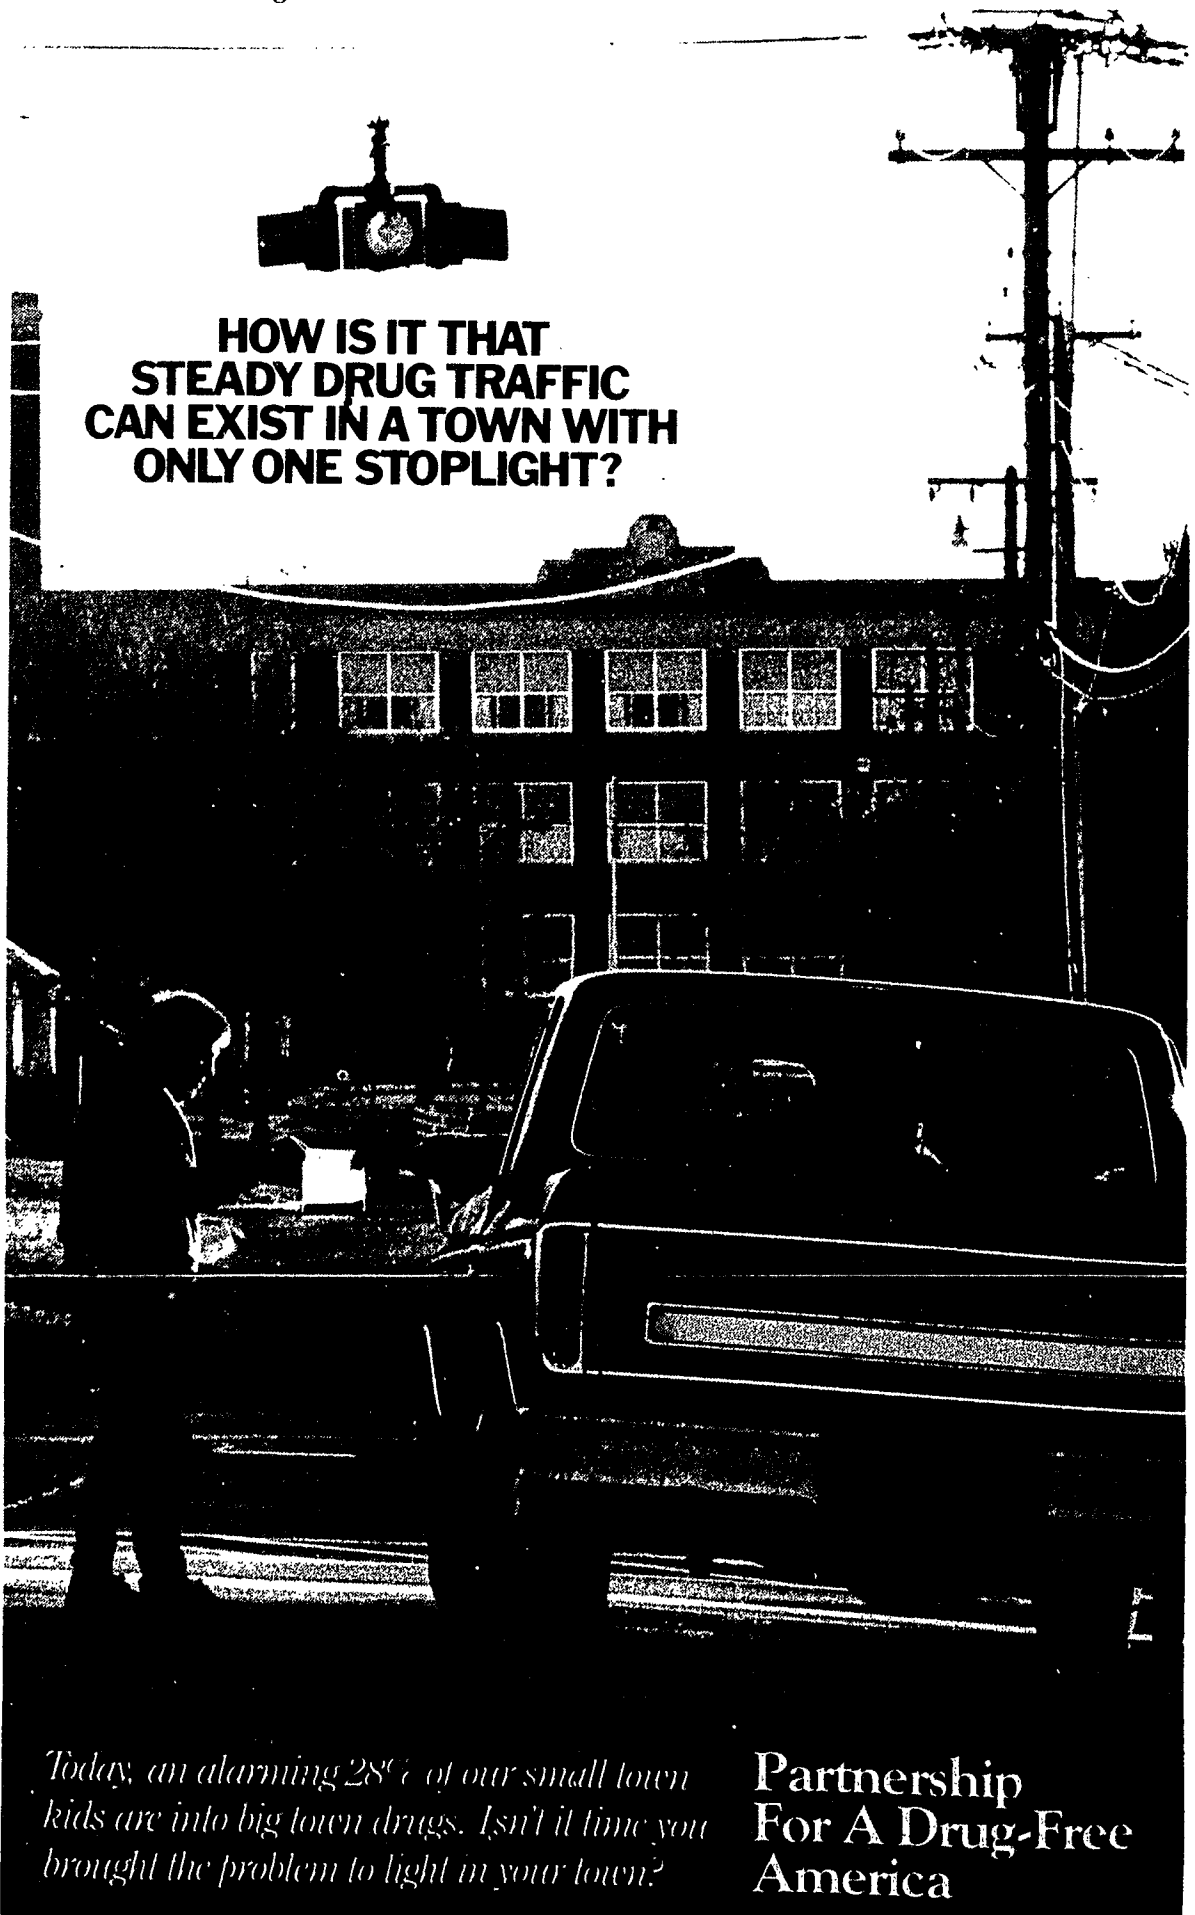

As one doctor in Mississippi put it, "If something isn't done soon, I won't have good doctors to take care of me when I get old."

Back-to-school time brings memories of train whistles

The children are going back to school now, trying to cling to the last remnants of summer on afternoons and weekends before fall brings early darkness and loads of homework. I remember going back to school and I immediately think about measuring and freight trains.

In my family, all the kids were measured every August. The little Catholic school uniforms got lengthened or new ones were ordered. Later, when we went to public schools, the whole family went shopping and we each got a few new things to replace clothing that no longer fit us.

Mom may have been measuring me when back-to-school time came, but I was measuring the number of minutes the train whistles lasted.

It seems that kids go back to school earlier now, or maybe it just stays hot longer here on the coast. I don't remember a lot of complaints about no air-conditioning in the classroom when I was in elementary school.

I do remember class pausing every time a freight train whistle from the lumber yard down the street blasted in through the open windows.

I couldn't depend on the lesson always being interesting, sunshine at recess or the kind of temporary friendships kids make in elementary school, but I could always depend on those trains.

It seems I always attended a school within earshot of a railroad track; there was even a track passing through the campus of my junior college. I knew, as early as elementary school and before I ever wore a wrist-watch, what time those trains went by and how long the whistles took to blow.

I was comfortable with trains. I had rarely ridden them but I spent better than 15 years living within two blocks of a track. I didn't even wake up at night when the trains went by, but if they were late or failed to whistle, I was wide awake. In fact, the only real redeeming feature my first apartment had was the sounds of the trains going by.

I had an English class that was interrupted by a train when I was in seventh grade, and a math class in eighth grade. There was a train during science in the ninth grade, and there was always one that blew at a quarter to three to tell me to start getting my books together and head home or to band practice.

When I moved back across town to high school, I remember that in even my favorite classes, I always stopped whatever I was doing, even tests, to listen to the train and see how long it was.

In summer, I would hear the train and think of fall. Trains reminded me of school, band practice, football games, dusty old lockers and waiting for my afternoon ride.

The only time I ever skipped a class in junior college was to see a very special train, a green-and-gold steam engine pulling a passenger train called the Southern Crescent.

I remember standing on the lawn of the fine arts building, holding my books with one hand and waving to the passengers with the other because I could see their faces. They all waved back and I was as delighted as I had been when I had seen the same train once during elementary school.

Even at USM, where there was a track at the top of a hill above campus and another crossing on the highway where somebody had painted the overpass black and gold with the university logo, I associated trains with school.

Sometimes, even on days I didn't have a class, I automatically reached for my books when the whistles sounded.

I'll be going back to school too this fall, taking a night class at USM-Gulf Park in Long Beach as I have for the past few years. Even at night, I hear trains and remember other schools. Sometimes, my professor has to ask me a question twice, but I think he believes I can't hear him over the whistle.

Let him continue to think the noise is too loud, so I can continue to enjoy the music.

I hope all of the children returning to school this fall are left with a memory as vivid and as pleasant as my memory of those trains.

May of 1988, initially focused on the Far East with a trip to Japan by myself and Governors Bill Clinton of Arkansas and Buddy Romer of Louisiana. We are working with all three states to make sure that we coordinate our efforts in Europe as well.

Just as a unified Europe will work together to promote that region of the world, our three states are promoting our region more efficiently and effectively by working together.

Clearly, Mississippi is not alone among the states in stepping up its efforts to do business with Europe in advance of 1992. At a recent meeting of the National Governors' Association in Chicago, many governors announced plans for trips or new state initiatives.

During that meeting, I was chosen to chair the National Governors' Association Economic Development Committee. And, I just finished heading up the association's Task Force on Foreign Markets. The experience and knowledge gained from these positions will help Mississippi in the global marketplace.

Our state has an opportunity to be a leader in securing business with the European community. With this trip and the other efforts that follow, we must seize the opportunity to bring the jobs and income to Mississippi what we all want.

6 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted

1 tsp. prepared mustard
Dashes hot pepper sauce as desired

Peel onions, cut an X halfway through each, and place on a heavy sheet of foil. Combine remaining ingredients and spoon evenly over onions. Wrap and seal in foil, and place on the hot coals.

Roast for 45 minutes to an hour, turning occasionally.

(If you haven't fired up the pit, do this in the oven—just bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes.) Four servings. Double if using with above turkey wing recipe, of course.

And, to go along with the turkey wings, pick up some of the little, tender yellow squash on special at Jitney Jungle and Delchamps as well, slice, and quickly steam along with chopped onions and seasonings, sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and serve. And snip in some of that curly parsley from Delchamps.

Or slice the squash and zucchini into your salad bowl, or pass, along with other fresh vegetables sliced or cut, as appetizers, with a bowl of accompanying dip.

Don't pass up the beef specials at National just now. If you choose the boneless rump roast, you'll have a delicious roast beef dinner, with cooked roast ready for another day!

Do as the ever-so thrifty cooks of the French countryside do—slice the cooked beef thinly in strips, adding mushrooms, perhaps, and serve in sauce with rice. Or, serve:

ORIENTAL BEEF SKILLET

1 1/2 to 2 cups cooked beef, cut in strips

2 Tbsp. vegetable oil

1 medium onion, chopped

1 10 oz. pkg. frozen french-style green beans

1 4 oz. can mushrooms, reserve liquid

1 4 cup liquid mushroom liquid plus water

1 cup celery, sliced on diagonal

1 Tbsp. cornstarch

2 Tbsp. soy sauce

1 1/2 cup water chestnuts, drained if desired

Another special at National—pork steaks. They're quite tasty browned, then braised with sliced onions and tomatoes and seasonings. Or, try this easy:

BAKED PORK AND SAUERKRAUT

4 pork steaks

1 large apple

1 large can sauerkraut

Pepper to taste

1 tsp. (heaping) caraway seeds (optional)

You do have to turn on the oven—but you don't have to stay in the kitchen while this cooks. Just place the steaks in a 6x9-inch glass baking dish. Drain the sauerkraut and pare and dice the apple.

Combine the sauerkraut and apple, add the pepper and caraway seeds. Mix well and place over the meat. Cover the dish with aluminum foil and bake at 350 degrees for an hour. (Four to six servings.)

If you take advantage of the bargains on ham, you can cook once, relax several times over as you make use of the leftovers for days!

Winn-Dixie offers shank portion hams at a special price, and Jitney Jungle offers super-trimmed shank portions, also butt portions, slightly higher. And Jitney offers smoked picnics, also. Whichever you choose, here's a next-day-or-so dish:

EASY HAM AND RICE CASSEROLE

1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup

1 1/2 to 2 cups cooked ham, cubed or "chunked"

1 1/2 cups cooked rice

2 cups cooked green beans, drained

2 Tbsp. chopped onion

Pepper as desired

Dry bread crumbs

Combine soup, ham, rice, beans and seasonings (I find canned soups have enough salt, so I don't add salt) in greased 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Sprinkle with crumbs, and bake at 350 degrees for half an hour. (Four servings.)

Why not mix up a green salad, choosing from all the fresher than fresh vegetables at our area supermarkets? Or a fresh fruit salad—pick up some of those Bartlett pears on special at Winn-Dixie and Delchamps, or grapes at National, and so on, according to your preference. Enjoy—and save!

Six months ago, Jennifer saw a dark future.

And nearly leapt right into it.

Today, she meets each day's challenge with love. And understanding.

Jennifer nurtured her new outlook at Slidell Memorial's 2 North Psychiatric Unit, where skilled and dedicated people taught her how to embrace the life that was scaring her away.

Psychiatrists, psychologists, and specially-trained nurses, each with an uncommon sense of caring, helped Jennifer see the difference between solutions that heal and solutions that hurt.

Specialized treatment anyone can understand.

Psychiatric treatment can assume many forms over many years. Often, treatment is too complex for anyone to fully grasp.

But at 2 North Psych., through dramatic, occupational, recreational, and musical therapies, we encourage patients to use their feelings creatively, channeling them outward. Conflicts become smoother, questions are answered. And patients learn to grow, naturally and emotionally-strengthened.

We want our patients to re-enter their lives quickly, happily. By reaching out in languages we can understand as well as they can.

Rocks stand tall against Greyhounds

Special to the Echo
By Tom Ackerman
It might have been "only" a scrimmage. An inter-school jamboree. A "David and Goliath" encounter.

But what it was—was a chance for the St. Stanislaus 1989-90 Rockchaws to test their mettle against the 5A Ocean Springs Greyhounds.

And the Rocks proved worthy of the test. With a 21-17 final, Ocean Springs on top, SSC showed it could compete with the best and hold their own. The Rock defense held Ocean Springs scoreless through the first quarter. And it wasn't until four seconds into the second period that the Hounds got on the board, 6-0. But the Rock defense denied Ocean Springs the point after.

But four minutes later, the Rocks would be in position to make a move.

Rising to the occasion, junior kicker Duncan Matheson sailed a 34-yard bomb through the uprights for the score. Hounds 6, Rocks 3.

Ocean Springs scored again with 58 seconds left in the first half, and ran for the extra points to bring the score to 14-3. It would get worse before it got better.

Two minutes into the second half, the Greyhounds added another TD and PAT to raise the tally to 21-3.

And this is the point where the Rocks might have said, "It's only a scrimmage. What's the difference?"

But this is a new year—and a new team. And the spirit is willing—and able.

Taking the ball on the kick, senior linebacker Sean Sewell brought the ball to the SSC 36. A run by senior Shannon Garrett moved the Rocks to the 49.

An interception by Ocean Springs sidetracked the Rocks for one play, but junior free safety Paul Johnson grabbed the ball back at the SSC 44.

The series brought no score, but it was clear the Rocks had no intention of laying down and playing dead.

In the final period, runs by Ponthieux and Garrett, and a sweep by Booker, brought the ball to the Stanislaus 35. And then it happened.

Senior Rock playmaker Cedric Smith found sophomore end Mickey Quinlan at the Ocean Springs 27. Booker carried to the 10 on a pitch out, and Garrett brought the ball to the 4. With 4:31 on the fourth quarter clock, Garrett scored and Matheson added the point for a 21-10 score.

History repeated itself late in the period when Smith once again connected with Quinlan on a 24-yard pass bringing the ball to midfield.

Then the excitement really began. Quarterback Smith passed to junior end Galen Smith who found a hole and ran for the 50-yard score, 21-16. As regular as clockwork, Matheson made good and the board showed 21-17.

But it wasn't over yet.

With seconds to go, the Rocks moved the ball to the Ocean Springs 17 on two runs by Booker, injured in the final run. Time ran out, but a penalty against the Hounds gave the Rocks one last shot.

Smith's pass was intercepted at the goal, but the Rocks had nothing to be ashamed of.

"Our guys rose to the occasion," commented Rock head coach Key Lyons after the game. "We were nervous at the beginning, just spitting and sputtering, but we finally pulled it all together."

Of particular note, the Rockchaw offensive line gave Smith plenty of time to get his passes off, and the Rock receivers kept the Hound's off guard all night.

"Our passing game came together in the second half," Lyons continued. "We made some corrections, but we're not there yet. We've still got some work to do."

And how did Lyons sum up the game?

"Our kids showed a lot of character." --Amen!

Next Friday, the Rockchaws open regular season play against the Pass High Pirates, 7:30 at Rockchaw Stadium.

Mohr decorated

Exiled Czech government medal latest addition to Bay man's honors

BY D.C. HARVILL

Death, devastation, physical and mental anguish, we abhor the tragedies of war. Our culture, like most that have preceded it, however, honors and reveres those who go to battle for their country.

Lieutenant Colonel Gordon "Jack" Mohr of Bay St. Louis has risked his life for his country—and came close to losing it more than once.

For the risks and injuries he incurred in World War Two, the Korean Conflict and Vietnam, Mohr has received many awards and decorations. Most remembrance and a bond for the future."

The order is signed, Ignac H. Trhlik, president of the exiled Czech government.

The Order of Liberty is the fourth foreign decoration Mohr has garnered for his military endeavors. For his service in the Korean Conflict and as an advisor to the Korean military prior to the onset of the war, he was awarded the Korean Order of Tae Guk.

In 1984, he was honored by the Polish Freedom Fighters in the U.S.A. He also has been made an honorary Aide de "Lt. Mohr, with courage, intrepidity and utter disregard for his own personal safety, fired the gun at assaulting tanks until both his weapon and vehicle were overrun and destroyed."

Mohr escaped on foot and, securing another vehicle, rejoined his unit, the citation says.

"Lt. Mohr's personal courage, coolness under fire, and disregard for his own safety inspired his unit and enabled it to hold in the face of overwhelming odds, thus aiding materially in delaying the enemy advance.

near Kapyong, South Korea on December 12, 1950 and again on December 14, 1950.

In the last years of the Korean Conflict, Mohr worked with a psychiatrist on brainwashing techniques and wrote the first lesson plans for the Military Code of Conduct, that specifies what information a soldier is to volunteer if captured.

"We found men who didn't give any information were treated better than men who would. If they thought you would talk they wouldn't leave you alone," he said.

"There was a great deal of difference between the North Koreans and the Chinese. The North Koreans were brutal, but we never had any knowledge of incidences of brutality by the Chinese—they used highly developed psychological techniques. The head interrogator for the Red Chinese was a Ph.D. from UCLA," he said.

While assigned to Ethiopia, from 1958 to 1962, Mohr served as a game warden, taking American VIPs on big game hunting trips.

Mohr retired from the service in 1964 in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

"I liked the South so well I thought I would stay," he said. He and his wife, Doris, moved to Bay St. Louis in 1974.

Since his retirement, Mohr has done "a great deal of lecturing and writing," he said.

He lectures and writes on foreign policy and brainwashing, he said.

"I am a severe critic of American foreign policy. I saw so much happen in the State Department and tried to bring it to official attention, but would be slapped down each time," he said.

"One case was a shipment of wheat that was sent as relief to Ethiopia. The Ethiopian authorities were selling the wheat and pocketing the money. The State Department officials told us to mind our own business," he said.

Mohr currently serves as a coordinator for the militia-style group Christian Patriots Defense League. The organization consists of groups around the country whose intent is to assist local authorities in times of national emergency.

"In case of an enemy invasion or insurrection there would be a great deal of internal trouble because of the number of foreign agents who have come in with the illegal aliens," he said.

"If trouble broke out there is no way local police or sheriff's departments could handle it if it is on a national level. That is why the militia was set up. That is why Sweden has been so successful in remaining free—every man between certain ages is required to keep a gun and a certain amount of ammunition on hand in case they need to be called out," he said.

"We are strongly anti-gun control," he said.

Mohr said the organization had been paramilitary in nature, with a training camp in Missouri, but recently has realized that is not the answer.

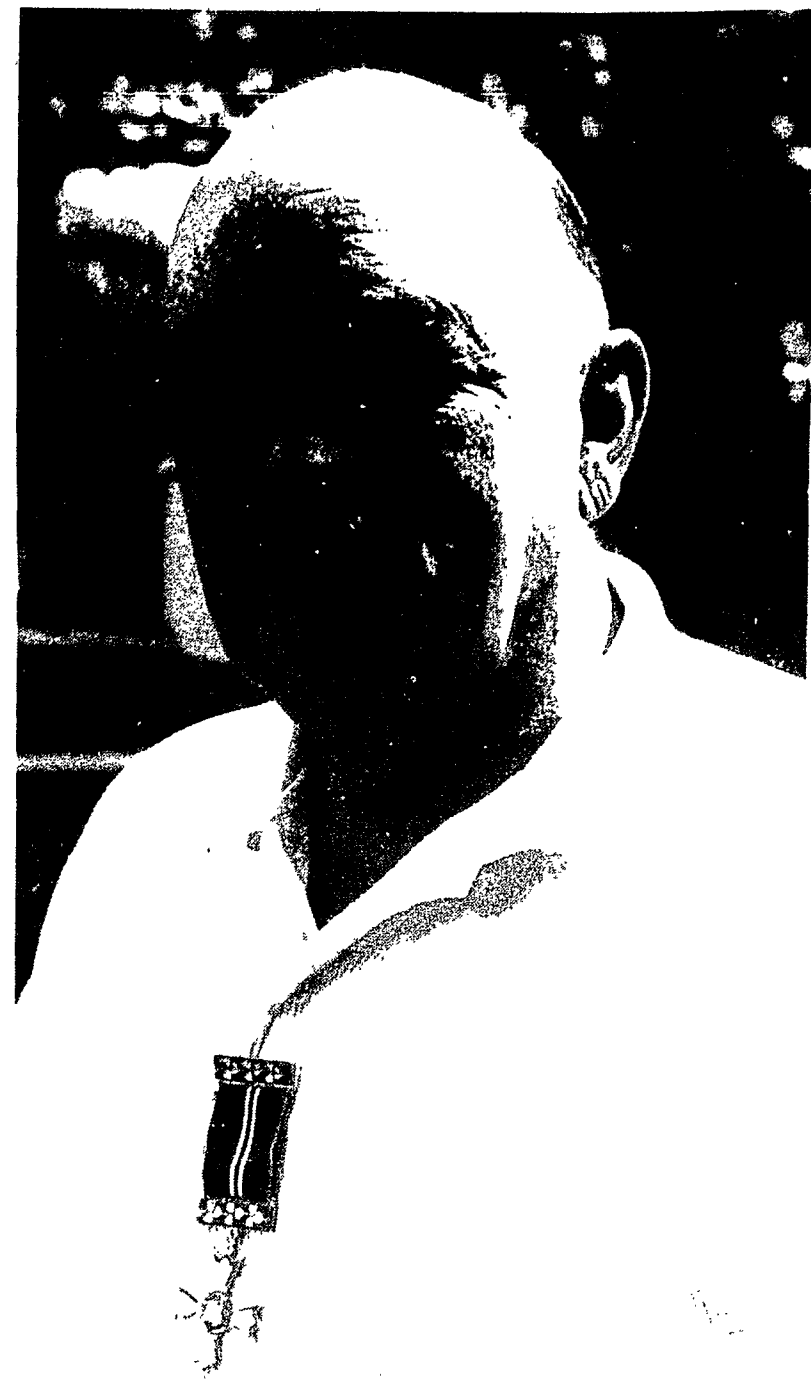

"We feel very strongly, as the years go by, that the answer is a moral and spiritual thing," Mohr said.

The organization has approximately 50,000 members nationwide. There are no groups in Mississippi, he said.

"We have no control over what they do. We just watch over them to make sure they don't get into vigilante activities. We've only had one or two attempts along those lines," he said.

"Because we have always been open with local authorities we have never had any problems," he added.

Mohr is a member of Wave-land American Legion Post 77. He and his wife attend Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis.

Mohr today, above, wearing his most recent medal the exiled Czech government's Order of Liberty. Below, Mohr in 1950 wearing the first Silver Star of War and the first Purple Heart awarded in the Korean Conflict.

Mohr, center, being reviewed by a Korean police chief while serving as an advisor to the Korean military in 1948.

recently he was granted the Order of T.G. Masaryk (known as the Order of Liberty) by members of the Czechoslovakian government who were deposed when communists invaded the country in 1958 and are now in exile in Australia.

The Order was awarded Mohr "In recognition of his exceptional merit of organizing the fight against international marxism-communism, which is in direct contrast to all international agreements by suppressing all human rights of millions of its citizens, to whom it denies all natural rights for independence and self-determination."

The commendation goes on to acknowledge Mohr's participation in militia-type organization known as the Christian Patriots Defense League "in an effort to save the U.S.A., and by such the last fortress of Christianity, Liberty and Democracy, the last hope of all suppressed Nations."

"For the honour and everlasting memories of members of the Czechoslovak Armed Forces and all other Czechoslovak Exiles which in holy enthusiasm sacrificed their lives for their Country. This ORDER is a Camp to the Movimiento Indigena Nicaraguense, for his aid to the Contras in Nicaragua.

Mohr was the first American decorated in the Korean Conflict and also the first wounded.

On July 14, 1950, he was presented the Silver Star for action in the opening hours of the war on June 25, 1950.

"We feel very strongly, as the years go by, that the answer is a moral and spiritual thing."—Mohr

According to the citation, he "distinguished himself by gallantry in action against an enemy of the United States near Pochon, Korea on 25 June 1950. Mohr, as advisor to the 9th Regiment, South Korean Army, joined his unit when it was under heavy attack by North Korean Forces including heavy armor.

"Lt. Mohr (he was a lieutenant at the time) voluntarily remained with his unit though continuously under artillery and mortar fire. When enemy armor launched an assault on his unit, Lt. Mohr, realizing that it was in grave danger of being overrun, secured an AT gun and using his own (vehicle) as a prime mover, personally moved the gun to the front and without infantry support fired at enemy tanks....

"Lt. Mohr's gallantry and heroic action reflects great credit upon himself and is in keeping with the highest traditions of the Armed Forces of the United States," the citation says.

Mohr was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received on June 26, 1950, when his jeep was hit by an enemy shell and shrapnel struck him in the right elbow and side of the head.

He subsequently received two additional Purple Hearts for wounds received in battle

BEACHFRONT SETTING FOR CES 'TOAST'

Sixth annual CES 'Toast to the Coast' to be held Oct. 27

For the sixth consecutive season, Coast Episcopal Schools Parent Teacher Organization will present the 'Toast to the Coast,' a gala evening celebrating life on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

This year's festivities will once again be held on the spacious grounds of an historic beachfront home located at 613 East Scenic Drive, Pass Christian and will begin at 7 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 27.

Co-chairpersons Mary Mizell and Sandy Hartwell promise this year's 'Toast' to be even more exciting than before. Guests will be treated to food from more than 30 Gulf Coast restaurants and caterers, an art exhibit showcasing the area's best talent, silent and live auctions offering fabulous trips, clothing, jewelry, art, and antiques and live music performed under the stars.

For years Toast to the Coast has continued to grow into one of the social highlights of the season. Guests arrive from Waveland to Ocean Springs and from New Orleans, Mobile, Hattiesburg, and all points in between.

No event on the Mississippi Gulf Coast has been able to capture the essence of all that makes life here on the Coast so unique and present it in such a beautiful setting of twinkling white lights, the aroma of pungent Mississippi foods, music drifting through the air, and a myriad of art and gift items.

Other committee chairpersons contributing to making the Toast to the Coast a success are Barbara Dauterive, restaurants; Nancy Uram and Patty Hourin, live auction; Priscilla Bell and Mary Goman, silent auction.

Laurel's Rogers Museum depicted in new handbook

A wonderful treasury of art, not widely known even in Mississippi where it is located, is the Lauren Rogers Museum in Laurel.

In a new book which features many of the works in the museum's five collections, the importance of this small museum in Mississippi piney woods becomes obvious.

What is perhaps most remarkable about the Lauren Rogers Museum is not only that its treasures are of superlative worth and variety, but also that a collection of such magnitude has reposed virtually unacknowledged in Laurel since early in the century.

The new volume, called The Lauren Rogers Museum of Art: A Handbook of the Collections and published by the University Press of Mississippi, features European art, American art, Japanese prints, native American basketry and artifacts and English silver.

These comprise works by such masters as Winslow Homer, Albert Bierstadt, George Innes, John Singer Sargent, Thomas Moran, Hester Bateman, Hiroshige, Hokusai, and many others in a collection that has grown considerably since the museum was originally endowed.

It was established by the philanthropy of the Rogers and Eastman families as a memorial to their beloved son and grandson who died at the age of 23. These families were a part of the 19th century enclave of northerners who came to the South to develop a lumber industry in a region emerging from the frontier and reconstruction.

In the village of Laurel they chose to make their homes. They built good schools and transplanted high culture for the benefit of their families and their employees. The museum is a part of their legacy.

With its exceptional works of fine art, the Lauren Rogers Museum is one of those tucked-away gems one especially prizes after discovering it.

TEA COMMITTEE—Gathered around a table in the home of Mrs. Samuel Lawrason, St. Thomas Episcopal Church women Mrs. Joan N. Stewart, Mrs. James J. Hourin, Lawra-

St. Thomas women host first Silver Tea

The women of St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Diamondhead will host their first Silver Tea at the home of Mrs. Sam M. Lawrason on Thursday, Sept. 14.

The tea will honor Mrs. Barry L. Cotter, wife of the vicar of St. Thomas. Mrs. Lawrason's home is located at 6671 Golf Club Drive in Diamondhead and will be open to the public from 3 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Joan N. Stewart and Mrs. James J. Hourin are co-chairmen of the event. Vice-chairmen are Mrs. Harrie Thompson and Mrs. William J. Gemmell.

Mrs. Daniel Riordan is president of St. Thomas Episcopal Churchwomen.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Phelan Hawn, invitations; Mrs. James Hourin, decorations; Mrs. Daniel Smith, special arrangements; Mrs. Berlon Dennis, refreshments; Mrs. Richard Thompson, hostess/servers; and Mrs. James B. Brumfield, publicity.

Donations accepted at the door will benefit St. Michael's Farm for Boys in Picayune, whose efforts are dedicated to giving deserving boys a second chance; and Habitat for Humanity International, an ecumenical Christian ministry with the goal of eliminating poverty housing.

Of particular interest in the Lawrason home, a two-story gray brick in a natural pine setting, is the pre-Civil War Lawrason family grandfather clock which is displayed in the 27-foot high skylighted foyer. Four Rolland Golden prints ascend the staircase.

The cathedral-ceilinged living area which overlooks the Cardinal Golf Course has oriental rugs over diagonally laid hardwood floors. Upstairs, two bedrooms and a library open onto a balcony overlooking the living area. On the patio hangs the original bronze bell from the family's White Rose Plantation in Mathews, La.

Refreshments chairman, Mrs. Dennis, will be flying in from London with English biscuits, scones, clotted cream, tea and other ingredients for English tea sandwiches and sweets.

The public is invited to attend. Visitors are requested to park in the parking area of the country club across Golf Club Drive from the Lawrason home.

Resor-Sager

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Patricia Mary Veronica Sager of Pass Christian and David Anthony Resor of Metairie.
